Background

West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. underwent a major regime change in 2018. Most of these policies were formulated well before then, and before pre-COVID pandemic times, when almost every program was presented live, the studio premises was buzzing with activity, volunteers were able to meet face-to-face, interact freely and share responsibilities.

In 2020 at the onset of mandated COVID restrictions, and without a single paid staff member on site to manage compliance with a COVID safe plan, the station had to shut its doors to almost everyone. 3BBR was shaken to its very core. Air time was filled with everything from a multi-stack CD player, to computer generated playlists and Community Radio Network (CRN) programs.

Presenters were not only compelled to stay away from the studios, but faced the added dilemmas of personal safety and the need to learn software and buy equipment to be able to pre-record their programs in isolation. A lack of technical expertise proved to be an added deterrent for many in that regard.

Thanks to the dedication and determination of a few volunteers, computers were purchased, automated playback software was installed, remote computer access was creatively implemented, and remote training was given to those who wanted to continue on air by pre-recording.

Three years later in 2023, the station is slowly clawing back its lost audience, its connection to its local community, and is actively searching for new presenters and ways to modernise and move forward, and recognise the changing demographic of the region.

A mix of live, pre-recorded and CRN programs, with fallback to computer-generated playlists will likely be the long-term makeup of what we hear on 3BBR. The balance will change over time. The Strategic Plan and Action Plan to overcome recent challenges is vital.

Before the pandemic, responsibilities were more clearly defined. The line between Governance and Operations is now blurrier than ever, and indeed, cannot be better delineated without paid staff or more volunteers on hand. These policies and procedures should be read in this context.

It is important that you take some time to understand the policy. We will assume that if you use any of 3BBR's digital services, you agree to its principles.

This policy defines:

We are committed to ensuring the privacy of your personal information. We may need to update this policy at any time and recommend that you review this policy periodically.

WHY WE COLLECT YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

We collect your personal data because you:

- Want to financially support us as a Supporter, Member or Volunteer. We need your personal information to communicate with you
- Made a donation. We need this information (e.g. your credit card details and your name and address) to process the payment transaction and to issue a receipt
- Requested information from 3BBR and asked for a response
- Provided feedback or made a complaint

We may collect personal information also for purposes directly related to get a better understanding of our audience. In turn, this knowledge allows us to tailor our content to better serve your interests and needs.

We also collect anonymous information, or with minimal personal details, from your interactions with our digital platforms (our website and our pages on social media). The analysis of this statistical information allows us to provide content that is more relevant to our audience.

WHAT PERSONAL INFORMATION WE COLLECT AND HOW WE DO IT

The types of information we collect are:

- personal details
- anonymous activity-tracking data

Personal details may include name, postal address, email address and phone number. We may collect financial information like credit card or bank account details that you provide to us. These financial details are only used to process a transaction you have initiated, and will not be stored in our system. Credit Cards transactions via our website are processed through Bendigo Bank and eWay, and we do not save card details. If you choose to make recurring payment to us, we will only record that preference, and not the card details.

In some specific cases (e.g. when you apply to become a Volunteer) we collect ‘sensitive’ information, which is used strictly for the purpose it was collected. (Note: The privacy legislation considers sensitive information about people’s health, racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, etc.)

We collect anonymous data about visits to our website, like the number and frequency of visitors, the most popular pages and general traffic patterns. This is mainly aggregated statistical data and does not allow us to identify users, but can reveal their IP addresses. We also have access to statistical information related to our social media pages (e.g. Facebook). (Note: We may have access to some personal information of our social media visitors based on their security settings in the social media platform, based on its privacy policy.)

THE WAYS WE COLLECT INFORMATION INCLUDE:

- verbally, either personally or over the phone
- in writing (e.g. you send us a letter or email with your details)
- electronically (e.g. you fill an online form on the website or anonymous information gathered with ‘cookies’— see below).

When you provide personal details verbally or in writing, we may transfer the relevant details to a database in our system. In doing this, we apply internal procedures that ensure we maintain the privacy of the information provided.

When we collect personal information electronically (e.g. when you fill out an online form) the transfer of information to our database is carried out without human intervention. In general, the path from your computer to our system is securely encrypted (i.e. we use Secure Socket Layer or SSL encryption.)

We collect anonymous website activity using ‘cookies’ attached to the web browser you use to access our website. (Note: A browser is a program in your computer—e.g. Chrome, Firefox, Internet Explorer—used to access internet websites. A cookie is a small data file that is downloaded and stored in your machine or portable device that lets our digital service store information.)

Most browsers allow you to manage cookies based on your preferences. You may set your browser to prevent the installation of new cookies, and you may delete existing ones. Please refer to the help area of your browser for instructions on how to do this. Please note that in some instances avoiding cookies may mean you will not be able to take full advantage of the website services.

HOW WE PROTECT YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

We only use your personal information for the particular purpose you provided it, e.g. to communicate with you about your Support or Membership status, and to send you an occasional newsletter about activities at 3BBR.

Otherwise, we will not use or disclose your personal information without your consent, unless there is a duty to the public to disclose that information, we are required to by law, or where the interests of 3BBR require disclosure.

We store personal information in an in-house database system, which is protected from external unauthorised access by robust security technology. Internal access to the information is restricted to ‘need to know’ personnel.

At any stage, we may need to use third-party providers (for normal operation and contingency storage) to host some or all of our systems. These providers may have technical facilities in countries other than Australia. We will endeavour to use local providers whose privacy policies are compatible with ours.

When you access our social media pages, you are protected under the privacy policy of that platform (e.g. Facebook), not by this policy. You should review your security settings and ensure that you are comfortable with any disclosure of information allowed by such settings. You should note that these social media platforms likely store their information they collect outside Australia.

You should also note that information published on our website may contain links to third parties' websites. If you click on such links and are transferred to another website, you will need to refer to that other party's privacy conditions as this privacy policy will no longer apply.

HOW YOU CAN ACCESS YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

At any time you can request access to the personal information that we hold about you. You may simply want to check it, and if appropriate make corrections to it, or you may want to let us know of the change. For example, you may opt-out of receiving one or all of our communication services at any time.

You can contact us by:

email: info@3BBR-FM.org.au

phone: 03 5625 1103

mail: PO Box 350, Drouin, 3818

HOW YOU CAN COMPLAIN ABOUT A PRIVACY ISSUE

email: secretary@3BBR-FM.org.au

We will consider your issue at the next monthly Board meeting, or sooner if appropriate, and communicate with you about the progress of your concern. During this time we will investigate the matter according to our Privacy Policy and our internal procedures and respond to you.

Data Storage & Retention

RATIONALE:

The station stores a large amount of data, mostly music in mp3 format. With a number of presenters recording from home, the retention of data has become an issue. The purpose of this document is to put a policy in place with respect to back up and retention of data across the stations computers.

Available Backup Devices:

At the time of writing, the station has a Network Attached Storage (NAS) device and a 4 terabyte external drive that is kept off site when it is not being updated.

The NAS is used to store music that is available for presenters to use via Windows Media Player or VLC on the "Blue" computers. It is also used by the "Red" computer, which is primarily a back up in the event of power failure (it auto-boots when the power returns and starts playing). The NAS may also store some other data files.

The 4TB external drive has a back up of most of the stations computers data, including the OTS software and files. (OTS is purchased software used for the purpose of manual and automatic replay of programs and announcements.)

Data Retention:

The following are imperative files and need to be retained and backed up:

- Quicken / Quickbooks data
- Documents likely to be called on in the future (e.g. policy documents, disciplinary documents etc.)
- Any document required by law in the running of a business (5 years retention???)
- Any email that the contents of which are likely to need to be recalled in the future.

Given the amount of work involved to reconstruct it we should also have a back up of all the music the station has in mp3 format.

Pre-recorded Programs:

With the introduction of OTS it has been possible for presenters to pre-record their programs and transmit that data to the station for use. The current practice has been to retain archived copies of all the pre-recorded music programs, to be potentially used in the future in the case of absence or station shut down. This is not a sustainable long term approach so the following policy should be adopted:

1. Pre-recorded music programs to be archived and retained for a period of 12 months, after which time they will be deleted.

2. Pre-recorded 3BBR News programs to be deleted the day after they go to air. The transient nature of these programs means archiving is not necessary. The station logging computer will still retain a copy for 3 months.
 3. Community Radio Network (CRN) programs to be over-written each time (so not archived).
 4. Any other programs of a transient nature to be deleted after play. For example, West Gippsland Week, where it would not be appropriate to play it again in six months time. As per 2. above the station logging computer will have a copy in the event of any queries or complaints.
 5. Presenters that require their files to be kept longer will be responsible for storing them.

Emails:

This is a difficult one given the nature of email, and the spread of users. Most emails sent via the 3bbbrfm.org.au domain are stored on the ISP's mail server, but that is a finite resource (we do not have unlimited space). The majority of emails are transient in nature, they are dealt with as they occur and there is no benefit to storing them. For example, an email asking about what song was played at 6am does not need to be stored after it has been dealt with. However, an email that contains a complaint may need to be stored somewhere for a considerable period of time. The protocol may need to be to print any email that needs to be retained, so that a hard copy exists.

Responsibility:

Currently the Production team takes care of archiving the computers. Some of the work is done automatically, some needs to be done manually. A checklist needs to be developed over time to ensure everything is being taken care of, and to ensure there is a path to follow in the event of members leaving.

Summary:

Data retention is important. However, there are limits to what can be kept and over what period of time it should be stored. Some work may need to be done on the office computer to remove unnecessary files e.g. a file that has not been accessed in 5 years can most likely be deleted. Care needs to be taken though to ensure that it is not of "historical" value to the station (therein lies the problem, with it being somewhat subjective).

Backups need to be made and maintained, hard drives do not last forever. A monthly back up plan, following a checklist, would be appropriate.

Production Standards

RATIONALE:

This document is a compilation of principles reflecting long-standing in-house practice at West Gippsland Community Radio. Many of the standards are mandated by law or by licence conditions. Sponsors and listeners have every right to expect well-produced announcements. It's a training document, and a reference for new operators in Production.

GENERAL:

- Production work includes sponsorship announcements, station and program IDs and promos, and pre-recorded programs and interviews, with or without music backing.
- People wishing to produce these items must have the appropriate training, and have their skills approved by the Production team.
- Any items produced must maintain a standard of quality approved by the Production team, and must follow the standard guidelines set down in this document.
- Items produced by people who have not had their skills approved by the Production team must be submitted for appraisal before being used on air.
- In disputed matters of quality control, final discretion lies with the Program Coordinator who is responsible to the Board for standards of broadcasting.
- The Production team may require the item to be re-recorded to an appropriate standard for broadcasting, or may amend an item to render it suitable.
- Sponsorship announcements may be subject to approval of Sponsorship Representatives or Sponsors.
- The requirements of the APRA, AMCOS and PPCA licences must be met by all items produced for broadcast.
- Broadcast copyright of all items produced is owned by West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. Permission for other broadcasters to use such items must be obtained from the Board.
- Duration should not exceed 35 seconds total for all types of messages; sponsor, CSA and in-house promotions. (35 secs gives paying Sponsors their full 30 secs plus our buffer for replay cross-fade and a compulsory voice tag.)

MUSIC BACKING:

- Music should have a clear and definite ending.
- A minimum of 2 seconds of music or sound effects should top and tail each promo so that words are not clipped by auto-crossfading of the playback software.
- Music and sound effects chosen as backing for program promos, while appropriate to the musical style of the program being promoted, must be in keeping with daytime broadcasts, and the overall sound and mission of West Gippsland Community Radio Inc.

- A written record of all music used as backing must be kept.
 - The spoken content of the announcement must not overlay vocal content of a song.

WORDING:

- All wording must conform with the provisions of the Programming Policy.
- Intellectual property rights must be respected.
- Endorsement must not be claimed unless written permission has been obtained.
- In general, pre-produced sponsorship messages and promos should not exceed 30 seconds in length, recognising that some Community Service Announcements may warrant more time.

RESOURCES:

- Studio bookings must be made in accordance with the Rules published on the booking sheet.
- Materials and equipment may be used for personal purposes, but no materials or equipment may be removed from the studio without permission of a Production team member, must be signed out and in, returned promptly, and returned immediately upon demand.
- Production music and sound effects discs must not be removed from the studio.
- Back-up discs must not be erased or used for any other purposes.
- Voices used for production purposes need not be those of members, but must be suitable to the purpose, and maintain a high standard of clarity, expression and accurate pronunciation.

Community Service Announcements

POLICY:

3BBR aims to serve its community by collating and broadcasting information free of charge (aka Community Service Announcements), about meetings and events intended to promote good-will, participation and well-being within that community.

3BBR reserves the right to refuse requests for Community Service Announcements.

CRITERIA:

Community Service Announcements promote;

- Events or meetings primarily held for community participation or benefit
- Events where entry fees primarily cover the cost of holding the event
- Events to raise funds for not-for-profit groups or organisations whose primary purpose is community benefit
- Community participation for fitness or well-being

Paid Sponsorship is required when;

- Events are staged for personal or group gain (including music groups)
- The venue aims to profit from staging an event
- Businesses or organisations are pitching directly or indirectly for financial gain through sales

History:

Adopted February 2022.

Sponsorship

SALES

- Businesses may be approached by Members, but must be referred to sponsorship sales representatives who have been formally approved by resolution of the Board.
- All representatives must positively promote the image of the station.
- Sponsorship representatives may be reimbursed fuel or transport costs as determined by resolution of the Board.
- West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. reserves the right to refuse to broadcast any paid announcement which conflicts with the station ethos.
- Advertorial programs and features are not permitted.

SPONSORS:

- No sponsor may be accepted whose business does not support the policies of the station.
- Sponsorship must not be accepted from registered political parties or from companies that promote tobacco, gambling or discriminate against minority groups.
- Pharmaceutical products and medical services may not be promoted on air.
- Alcohol consumption may not be encouraged on air.
- Sponsorship does not entitle the sponsor to play a role in determining the nature or content of programs, nor in determining the program structure or policy of the station.
- No commercial business or activity may be promoted on air unless they are sponsors of 3BBR-FM under contract.

RATES:

- Sponsorship Rates are set by resolution of the Board and may not be varied by sales representatives without approval of the Board.
- All sponsorship sold is to be confirmed by use of the current standard Agreement.
- Sponsorship airtime can be given as a contra-deal for goods or services given to 3BBR, only if the Board agrees that a contract be signed for a specific term that is agreed value for those for goods or services. In that case, announcements will be promptly discontinued at the end of that term unless a new agreement is made.
- Representatives may not accept gifts or gratuities from sponsors.

COPY:

- Copy must be written by, or approved by a member of the Production team.
- No Sponsorship copy may be read directly to air by presenters.
- Each copy must have a tag acknowledging sponsorship of 3BBR-FM attached and played to air with the copy.
- Persuasive language may be used, and prices, bargain sales and special offers may be promoted.
- All music used under copy should be instrumental.

SCHEDULING and GRACE PERIODS:

- Only pre-recorded sponsorship announcements may be put to air.
- No more than five minutes of sponsorship announcements may be scheduled in each broadcast hour.
- No more than three sponsorship announcements are to be scheduled at any time, except in unusual circumstances.

- Sponsorship announcements are to be played as close as possible to the scheduled time except in circumstances which render this impossible, such as power failure.
 - If unusual circumstances make it impossible to play announcements at the scheduled times, they must be rescheduled, preferably on the same day.
 - No presenter may elaborate upon a sponsorship announcement, or endorse the product or service described in the announcement.
 - 3BBR is under no obligation to inform a Sponsor that their message is no longer being broadcast after a contract expires, but it is clearly in our best interests to invite a Sponsor to renew their contract in good time.
 - Where a term-contracted Sponsor (i.e. an agreement longer than 3 months) has been given fair notice that their agreement will soon expire, and having been invited to renew that contract, a grace period of two weeks will apply if they have responded with the intention of continuing that contract. 3BBR will continue to broadcast their sponsorship announcements during that grace period as a gesture of good will.
 - In all other circumstances, Sponsorship announcements will be withdrawn promptly at the end of the contracted period, even if 3BBR has failed to invite a Sponsor to extend their contract. This implies that a grace period is the exception, rather than the norm.

GIVEAWAYS:

Policy regarding Giveaways is detailed in a separate section, with the intention of avoiding gratuitous promotion beyond the bare minimum necessary to effectively give away the item.

INTERVIEWS:

- If interviews with performing artists are planned, they should preferably be pre-recorded.
- It is the responsibility of the interviewer to explain to the interviewee that while forthcoming commercial performances may be discussed, direct promotion of the venue or information about purchase of tickets may not necessarily be included and inappropriate material may be removed.
- If the forthcoming performance is a local event or festival, in aid of charity, ticket information and contact numbers may be given, but there must be no promotion of any commercial venue.
- If an artist is promoting a CD, the name may be mentioned, and only general information about availability may be broadcast. No commercial outlet may be promoted. 'Available in your local music store' is an appropriate phrase to use.

Interviews

RATIONALE:

A situation may arise where several programs intend to interview the same person or group for similar reasons or within a short period. Artists and their PR representatives offer incentives for interviews and extra air time which may compromise the integrity of the station. Artists and businesses do not always understand the particular limitations placed by the Broadcasting Act on Community radio stations. Presenters must be aware of these limitations and how to avoid subjecting the station to a breach enquiry.

ORGANISATION OF INTERVIEWS:

1. Presenters planning interviews must ensure that all interview subjects are cleared through the Program Co-ordinator before final arrangements are made with the interview subject. This will avoid duplication.
2. Specialist music presenters have first right of refusal when artists offer interview opportunities.
3. If the specialist music presenter doesn't wish to record the interview, or does not have the skills to do so, another person may be asked to record the interview, but the interview must be submitted first to the specialist presenter for broadcast in the appropriate program.
4. In any case, interstate and international calls for recording must only be made with the approval of the Program Co-ordinator.
5. Booking of the Production Studio will be done according to the published rules, and the established order of precedence will be observed.

INCENTIVES:

1. All interviews with business people, including artists, must be pre-recorded, and all commercial details edited out before the interview is broadcast.
2. In accord with the Giveaways and Prizes Policy, and the Standing Orders, any benefits such as CDs, tickets etc offered to the station must not be regarded as the right of the interviewee, but must be offered to the listening audience in the first instance. If there are no takers, the tickets will be returned to the Sponsorship Co-ordinator, who will then offer them first to the specialist presenter, then if they still remain unclaimed, to other members for application. If there are more applicants than tickets, a draw will be held. In the case of CDs, the first CD donated will be accessioned into the 3BBR library. Any duplicates will be offered to listeners as prizes, and if not taken by listeners, will be offered as above, first to the specialist presenter/presenters, then to all presenters, for allocation by draw if necessary.

3. In order to avoid the possibility of 'advertising', artists offering incentives will not be given special exposure in any program, specialist or otherwise, where 'special exposure' includes detailed, planned comment or regular broadcasting of the artist's work in such a way as to draw attention to the product.
4. In accord with Standing Order 1.3, no presenter may seek extra favours, such as free materials or discounts on promise of extra air exposure.
5. The Program Co-ordinator may request oversight of correspondence relating to interviews.
6. In the case of dispute, the Program Co-ordinator will be the arbiter in the first instance.
7. It is the duty of the Program Co-ordinator to ensure that approved presenters are notified of potential interviewees in their area of specialty.

TRAINING:

All members intending to present interviews must have any two of the following qualifications.

1. Satisfactory completion of a nationally accredited course of training.
2. Satisfactory completion of an internal course of training.
3. Appropriate past experience in media or acceptable equivalent.
4. The ability to present a sample interview to a panel of members qualified as above.

The Training Co-ordinator has a duty to offer internal training in Interview Techniques on a regular basis, and to pass on details of accredited training courses when they are available.

RATIONALE FOR 2022 REVISION:

"Sounds of West Gippsland (SOWG)" was historically an overarching programming guideline for presenters to meet the expectations of conservative listeners during weekday daytime hours. To reflect changes in our listener profile, programming policy has evolved. "Sounds of West Gippsland" is now used only as a general station slogan.

Even at the beginning of 2022, it was widely understood that SOWG was still the overarching policy for all Mon-Fri 7am-6pm music programming. Given the schedule upheaval at the onset of COVID in early 2020 with dramatic reduction in the number of live programs, this was no longer possible or true. Our policies need to be accountable, achievable and reflect reality.

This revision aims to incorporate the spirit of the "Sounds Of West Gippsland" policy, without prescribing music selection so vigorously. It is hoped that by doing so, 3BBR opens up daytime programming to a wider range of accessible and diverse music without confronting or alienating conservative audiences. To help the station grow, most of its contents could be used as guidelines, rather than continue to be enshrined in policy. More flexibility is needed to promote new releases from under-represented Australian artists.

There is absolutely no need for current programs labelled with the SOWG badge to change their content.

PROGRAMMING GOALS:

1. The aim of West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. (a.k.a. 3BBR) is to provide programming which will cater to the needs of people of all ages and tastes, while also promoting the work of volunteer bodies within the community. Our goal is to be highly regarded as the local community radio voice, by affirming ourselves as a not-for-profit organisation.
2. 3BBR will provide local news and features, and will particularly focus on providing music not available on other stations in our broadcast area. Programming will avoid competing directly with current commercial radio playlists and strategy.
3. 3BBR will encourage diversity, inclusivity and will seek and welcome community participation.
4. West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. will give people the opportunity to learn radio production, broadcast and public speaking skills in a supportive environment, and share the music they enjoy in an informative and enthusiastic way.

POLICY:

General Guidelines:

Music and songs chosen for airplay should generally reflect positive attitudes.

It is the case that coarse language is occasionally heard on radio. 3BBR policy is to conform with community standards. From time to time, it may be appropriate, with a simple language warning, to play a song with minimal coarse language if the music is in keeping with that program brief e.g. alternative rock or neo-soul.

Unacceptable lyrics;

- present as desirable the use of drugs, including alcohol, narcotics and tobacco;
- extol gambling
- extol exploiting minors or minorities
- promote discrimination or prejudice against any group on the basis of race, sex, nationality, religion, disability, ethnic background, age, gender or sexual preference
- encourage violence or suicide.

Songs that were considered acceptable at the time of release, but are now deemed racist or inflammatory by minority groups are to be avoided.

Similarly, respect for the listening audience places limits on what may be broadcast, in both spoken word and music programs.

Thus, as a guide to these limits, West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. affirms:

- the right of people to enjoy the music of their choice free of public criticism
- the right of privacy
- the right to maintain personal dignity
- the right to carry out duties for West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. without being subject to derogatory public comment
- the right of sponsors and community organisations to have their interests promoted in a positive way
- the right to hold a religious or political belief without fear of ridicule - similarly, the right not to hold such beliefs. This does not include the right to preach or advocate personal beliefs on air, even if they may be related to the program brief e.g. a Christian music program. Your program content should speak for you.
- the right not to be belittled or defamed
- that Presenters will refrain from using language which is generally accepted as being outside the bounds of public decency
- the right of children not to be exposed to damaging or anti-social opinions or behaviour
- the right to be forewarned of any potentially offensive content or coarse language
- the right of Aboriginal and Torres Strait islander people to be forewarned when cultural sensitivities come into play, notably where they may hear the names and voices of Aboriginal people who have died

Noted in the Sponsorship Policy is that advertorial programs or features are not permitted.

SCHEDULING:

Members will be consulted on major changes to programming policy and guidelines, which are ultimately approved by the Board.

The schedule is managed by a Board-nominated delegate a.k.a. the Program Coordinator, who will be guided by, and work with the Board on policy, content and resolving issues.

The schedule will prioritise programs produced locally and primarily for 3BBR, and the Board assesses all such applications. These will be supplemented by programs made available through the Community Radio Network (CRN), and where necessary by computer-generated playlists. The Board delegates the selection and management of supplementary CRN programs to the Program Coordinator.

Recognising that listening behaviour is generally one of habit, where possible, preference will be given to weekly programs of two hour duration, rather than fortnightly programs.

If at all possible, care should be taken to ensure that content folders for computer generated playback do not contain material that contravenes guidelines on lyrics, or contain music styles that are unsuitable for a particular time of day.

PROCEDURE:

3BBR is not in the position of having more presenters available than it can place in the weekly schedule, and never has been. While there is little or no competition for time slots, a program proposal from any 3BBR Member that follows its policies and guidelines will ordinarily be accepted. Its position on the schedule is negotiable after the Board is satisfied that the program proposal meets all policy requirements, and the Member agrees to them.

When a person begins the basic training course, a negotiation takes place. The vacant time slots suitable to the person's music resources are offered. The final choice is made when the person is ready to go to air independently. It may be necessary to place a trainee with a mentor in a team situation until a slot becomes vacant.

If an early evening time slot becomes available, it is first offered to those presenters scheduled later in the evening.

Every effort is made to preserve a balance between the structure of the schedule and meeting the needs of the new presenter.

If a presenter wishes to change to another time slot, negotiation takes place directly with other presenters, and the outcome notified to the Program Coordinator. If no agreement can be reached, the person who wishes the change will go onto a waiting list for a suitable time.

If we are ever approach the happy position of having more presenters than we can place, these policies will be revised accordingly.

Annual Schedule Reviews:

Every program undergoes an annual review and renewal process in advance of July, to ensure presenters are happy with their program brief and time slot, and to make any necessary adjustments in the best interests of the station.

Presenters are required to complete and submit the Program Renewal Application form when requested to do so. The Production team collates and reviews the forms, and works with the Program Coordinator to recommend any subsequent schedule changes to the Board for approval.

Weekdays 7.00am-6.00pm:

Weekday daytime hours are times when program consistency and flow are given the highest priority, to maximise audience retention, reach and growth. The following limitations on music selection apply during these hours;

- Music selections should have broad appeal
- Music can be from any decade, with recent and under-represented Australian releases encouraged
- "Experimental", "harder" or "edgier" music styles are to be avoided, including but not limited to Hard Rock / High energy club music / Garage / Hip-Hop / Metal / Punk
- Very long items are discouraged
- Explicit, confrontational or potentially offensive lyrics are to be avoided
- CRN programs and computer-generated playlists broadcast during these times will aim to be consistent with these limitations

All Other Times:

Specialist programs, and music styles that are discouraged during weekday daytime hours have a place elsewhere in the 3BBR schedule, especially where a likely audience for that programming exists in our broadcast area e.g. for a very young audience, particular interest group or minority.

New specialist programs should be distinctly different from others already on the schedule.

Narrowly-focussed niche programming is usually not suitable without demonstrating a specific need in our community, so music programs that encompass a broader range of related genres are preferred e.g. a mix of Jazz, Blues, and Soul within one program, rather than only one of these three genres dominating.

Australian Music Content:

West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. encourages the programming of Australian composed and performed music, which should meet or exceed our license requirement of 25% of our total content in any given week. Representation of local composers, writers and performers is strongly encouraged.

It is understood that there are specialist programs where the 25% target will be difficult to maintain, so presenters who can do so should aim for 30% Australian content in order to compensate.

To assist presenters in meeting this target, all Australian recordings in the 3BBR Music Library which are Australian in origin will be clearly marked.

Regular audits of Australian content will be carried out, and all presenters are expected to comply with the audit process.

Stage Musicals & Opera:

A Grand Rights work (or dramatico-musical work) is an opera, musical play or show, revue or pantomime for which words and music have been specially written. Cinematic musicals such as Mary Poppins are classed as dramatico-musical works once adapted for the stage.

Our APRA agreement does not permit us to broadcast more than 20 minutes of any one dramatico-musical work on any one occasion. Beyond this limit, and especially for works composed during the last century, we are obliged to apply for a licence directly from the publisher,. As this is impractical and incurs substantial cost, 3BBR will strictly observe a 20 minute limit for any one dramatico-musical work in any single program episode.

Published Poetry and Stories:

Our licence allows use of music, but not of published poetry and stories. You must obtain permission from the publisher to read these. (Unpublished work requires consent from the author.) If a newspaper item is quoted, it must be read exactly as published, and the source acknowledged.

COMMUNITY BROADCASTING CODE OF PRACTICE:

West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. endorses the Community Broadcasting Code of Practice. Any complaints about a broadcaster and their program content must initially be referred to the Board, which will then act in accordance with the provisions of the Community Broadcasting Code of Practice.

COVID PANDEMIC CONSIDERATIONS:

- Live presentation of programs is still preferred
- By arrangement with the Programming Coordinator, Presenters have the option of pre-recording their programs and delivering them (named as directed) in MP3 format (minimum 256kbps) via the WeTransfer file service to uploads@3bbrfm.org.au

- Appropriate and complimentary programs from the Community Radio Network and automated computer music replay will be a necessary addition to the schedule until locally produced 3BBR programs can fully replace them.

Presenter Standards

In addition to the Presenter Standards listed below, reference should be made to the Presenter Agreement Form (Appendix to this document) and Standing Orders relevant to all volunteers.

Live in studio: Music Programs

1. Presenters will be allocated a time slot within the week and are expected to produce the collection of tracks and links between those tracks. We are moving towards two hour programs broadcast weekly.
2. The CDs at the station are available for use. Any CDs used during the course of a program must be returned to their rack at end.
3. Digital music is available on the Yellow computer, as well as via the Network Attached Storage (NAS) currently available via the Blue computer. Search functions are provided on both computers..
4. Presenters are also free to bring along their own CDs, or create a program from their own collection and bring in a laptop, tablet or mobile phone, which can be connected to the mixing desk for broadcast.
5. Presenters will be trained to use the range of the broadcast equipment, even if they plan to only use one particular media, so that in an emergency they are at least familiar with, and able to use, other resources.
6. Presenters should develop and document a Playlist, showing the program name, presenter name, date broadcast, the name of each track and artist, as well as running time and indicate which of the tracks have an Australian connection.
7. Playlists don't need to be on paper, but must to be kept by you, and available for submission when requested
8. You are free to use the studio equipment during your program, but you should not change settings you do not understand.
9. If changes to settings are made, to suit your style of presenting, you must change them back to the original at the end of your program. Likewise, all computers need to be restored to their default status when your show has finished.

Live in studio: Run sheets

1. In addition to the music played during a program there are pre-recorded spots (CSA - Community Service Announcements / SPA - Sponsorship Announcements / Station Promos) to be loaded and played at the times specified by the Daily Run Sheet.

2. At various times the run sheet will indicate News bulletins, which must not be loaded into a play slot more than 4 minutes before the hour, and is to be played as close to the exact hour as possible. From the menu, choose "Insert Directive → Load → Enter the number on the Run Sheet → press Enter". This will load everything necessary for the news to be presented.
 3. There will be periods in the schedule between one live presenter and the next, where a series of pre-recorded programs, or playlists will have been scheduled for that block of time, which the presenter is required to pre-load as per the Run Sheet.

Studio etiquette for live programs:

1. Arrive at least 15- 20 minutes before your scheduled program time.
2. If you cannot do your show or start on time, you must let the program team know as soon as possible.
3. Have a list of contact details readily available to you, and be prepared to co-operate with others who might need help in the case of urgent replacement on air.
4. Signing in and out is required for insurance purposes. This applies to your guests as well. This can be done either manually in the book or via the station QR login.
5. Government-mandated pandemic guidelines must be followed, especially when guests are on premises. Both presenters and guests must abide by current 3BBR Vaccination Policy. Any limits on guest numbers determined by the Board must also be observed.
6. If you follow another live program, always let the outgoing presenter know that you have arrived for your shift, especially if you are setting up in the other studio. A simple “hello” to the current presenter is enough.
7. Changeover is a difficult time to handle, and neither the outgoing nor the incoming presenter should be distracted.
8. Thank the previous presenter as you start the program and as you end point forward and invite listeners to “stay tuned” for the next program. This should be observed whether programs are live or pre-recorded.
9. If there are issues, the presenters following later need to be alerted. At a minimum, contact the next presenter before they arrive, and/or send an email to production@3bbrfm.org.au who can act accordingly.
10. Review the policies from time to time to ensure that you haven't overlooked something.
11. The Daily Run Sheet is an important document around which most of the running of the day-to-day programs of the station revolve.
12. The daily run-sheet is available on the Blue computer desktop . The entire day’s programs, SPA, CSA and News points are shown here, and as much as is possible they should be strictly adhered to. You are expected to competently load these, along with following pre-recorded programs as per this run-sheet, up to the next live-presented program.

13. News is sponsored, and the sponsor must be acknowledged by loading the News item as directed in the Daily Run Sheet. This will play the required top and tail with the bulletin itself.
14. It is essential that programs begin and end on time. That applies to any live program as much as it does to pre-recorded programs to be loaded on the studio computer.
15. Treat the computers and audio machines with care and press the buttons gently. This will avoid audible clicks, and prevent damage to the buttons.
16. If there is a technical problem, and it can't be solved on the spot, contact technical@3bbrfm.org.au and/or the Production Team production@3bbrfm.org.au to inform them and to get help. If it's going to affect the performance of later presenters, try to make contact to warn them.
17. If you wish to introduce a new segment, change the emphasis, style or name of your program or conduct an interview, please consult the Program Co-ordinator.
18. The task of putting a program to air requires your whole attention. Avoid distractions from newspapers, personal devices, internet browsing or off-air conversations.
19. You should only leave the studio if absolutely necessary.
20. You should not eat in the studio during your program, and if you need the odd sip of water you should use a flask of the kind that will not spill.
21. Fluids must be kept well away from the mixing desk specifically and electrical devices generally.
22. Please help to keep the studio environment clean and tidy. You must take all rubbish with you when you leave the studio.
23. Review your techniques and performance occasionally by recording your program and listening critically. If needed, the Production Team can provide you with a recording of your program from the station logger.
24. Ask more experienced presenters for help if you are finding specific difficulties. Accept comment if it is offered. Be willing to offer and accept constructive help, and be willing to share.
25. A Computer generated playlist can be used in emergencies.
26. Programs must commence and finish at the times stated on the published program, except in the case of a pre-recorded program, which must be played through to its end.

Responding to listeners:

1. Do not feel you must instantly respond to listener requests, particularly if you are not familiar with the track requested.

2. If you receive a request for an item which is not appropriate to your program, refer the caller to a program where it will be suitable. And if it's not suitable to play on 3BBR at all, please tell the caller so, and ask for another request.
 3. You are not obliged to listen to phone abuse, but you should always stay calm. It is not rude to ask the caller to desist, or to put the phone down in this situation. If you are on air, your audience is your first priority. Always note and report any instances of abuse, persistent time-wasting or unreasonable requests.
 4. You should NOT play any material which would offend against these policies and guidelines.
 5. Never play something with which you are not familiar.
 6. If necessary suggest you will endeavour to play the track at a later time.
 7. If a complaint is made, please take down the name, address and telephone number of the person ringing, and assure them that they will be contacted. If they are unwilling to supply this, tell them their comments will be noted, but that the station cannot act officially on anonymous complaints. Please take your notes and the details with you, and forward them to secretary@3bbrfm.org.au as soon as possible.

Pre-recorded programs:

1. Programs can be pre-recorded and assembled by presenters, and submitted via electronic means.
2. Plan the tracks and the voice links between them. Ensure there are no long silences, nor are tracks butted up too close against each other, or overlap incorrectly. Double check everything.
3. Presenters must be mindful of how they express time-sensitive information. Time calls should not be given.
4. Programs must be produced at 44.1kHz sample rate, and delivered at 256kbps or 320kbps in MP3 format.
5. You will be advised by the Production Team about the expected total duration of your pre-recorded program, and is dependent on time required for News bulletins and time of day. Normally programs will be delivered in 3 parts per hour (~50 mins with allowance for News bulletins), or 6 parts for a two hour program (~108 minutes). Aim to keep all parts of similar length (~18 mins).
6. It is your responsibility to make sure your program does not overrun the required time limits.
7. It is not possible to make minor cuts to a pre-recorded program after you submit it. When in doubt a program should run slightly under time, rather than over. Small schedule gaps can easily be filled by short music tracks.
8. Naming conventions for pre-recorded files must be strictly adhered to.

9. Program files must be sent via WeTransfer to the email address uploads@3bbrfm.org.au so they can be download directly to a studio computer for broadcast.
 10. Your show must be sent to the station no later than 24 hours before it is scheduled to air. If you are running late you must let the programming team know. Failure to do so may mean your program does not air at all.
 11. Programs which have gone to air will be archived for 12 months before being deleted.

How you sound:

1. Presenters will be given training and guidance before being allowed to go to air. The station aims for a high standard of clarity in communication.
2. Training will include voice and microphone technique, as well as using various equipment and computers for which competence is essential.
3. It is expected that as a presenter you will be expressive, enthusiastic, interested, accurate and natural in your approach, without excessive stumbling, speed or contrivance.

What you say:

1. Our call sign is 103.1 3BBR-FM, voiced as "one oh three point one, three double B R FM".
2. You should feel free to give station call sign regularly, and the computer on the desk has a icon for the local weather.
3. Mention our contact details from time to time. These can include Telephone, Facebook and web, and the best email for requests or listener feedback.
4. Time calls should only be given during live programs, should be accurate and always called as minutes past and minutes to (so twenty-five minutes to four not 3.35)
5. "Talk for the sake of talk" is probably worse than simple playing and naming each track.
6. Giving context to songs and adding information that informs the creative process can make good radio, however, you should also allow music to speak for itself. Refrain from reinforcing strong views expressed in lyrics, and avoid too much detail.
7. Avoid playing too many tracks together, and be sure to back-announce every musical item you play. Be clear and concise about it.
8. Consider using CSA/SPA/Promo breaks to punctuate thematic ideas or sections in your program.

Things you should NOT say:

1. Remember that community radio stations are not permitted to broadcast 'commercials' or 'advertisements', so avoid using these words, or abbreviations of them, on air.

2. We have Community Service Announcements and we have Sponsorship Announcements. The latter is where businesses or organisations support the station financially in exchange for airtime that promotes their activities. The distinction is important for community radio.
 3. Any comments on the benefits to be gained by dealing with our 'sponsors' are regarded as 'personal endorsement', and have no place in community radio. Let the sponsorship messages speak for themselves.
 4. On-air comments should be restricted to, and focus what is relevant to your program brief e.g. the music you play. Do not express strong personal views and opinions of your own, especially of a political nature or with regard to station operations and management. This is distinctly different from opinion expressed by interviewees which you should never endorse.
 5. Avoid self-indulgence such as long-winded chit-chat about your personal life, about personal problems you may have, or viewpoints that you hold.
 6. Slandorous or defamatory remarks, insults or derogatory comments may see you and 3BBR in court. Just don't.
 7. Fair comment does not include attaching adjectives to a person's character or behaviour, and suggestions of dishonest or self-serving motivations are dangerous. It is equally dangerous to spread rumour or negative stories you may have heard.

Handling Public Emergencies:

1. We are not an Emergency Authority. This means if an emergency situation occurs when you're on air; either fire, flood, weather, traffic accident or the like we will likely have an Emergency Bulletin sent in the form of an email.
2. We do not respond to gossip or Social Media posts. We do not guess, or circulate rumour, nor do we broadcast listeners or their unsubstantiated information.
3. If we are asked to by authorities, we read the Emergency Bulletin VERBATIM, without embellishment, or omission and without adding our own comments. Our own experience, fears or attitudes, however well intended, are NOT helpful.
4. During a major public emergency in our broadcast area, we will direct listeners to Victorian government emergency information resources or the appropriate authority. These could be official government websites, Apps or a phone service.
5. When the ABC (as the official emergency broadcaster) has suspended normal programming to report on it, we should also direct listeners to them for ongoing coverage. Either the President or Vice-President will authorise this and the frequent scheduling of our prerecorded "Emergency Advice" message, which will give that information clearly and concisely until the emergency is over. This promo is labelled "EMERGENCY ADVICE (Play only when authorised)"

General Issues:

1. Be familiar with the Programming Policy and any program guidelines issued by the station. These have been through an exhaustive process of drafting and approval. From time to time updated policy information will be circulated. These updates must be read and complied with.
2. If you wish to query any aspect of our policies, do so off air, through the Program Team.
3. If you have an issue or complaint about comments made on-air contact the Program Team.
4. Presenters will be given training in their legal responsibilities while broadcasting.
5. A Presenter who withdraws services for any reason must ask permission of the Program Coordinator before resuming on air in any capacity.
6. You must warn listeners in advance of potentially offensive language in songs or text, even if you believe your target audience may not be offended by it. Your broadcast must comply with the Station's Programming Policy. If you're unsure, you should not use any tracks which may be offensive and seek advice from the Program Coordinator.
7. Loyalty to 3BBR-FM and your colleagues means you should not make derogatory remarks about other presenters, programs, program contents, music genres, support staff or committee.
8. Instructions for the use of computers and equipment invariably changes over time. Presenters ideally will make themselves available for update training sessions. Alternative training methods will be provided for those remote presenters that are unable to attend in person.
9. Presenters should strive to perfect panelling skills, so that clicks and whirs, varying levels, contact noise, paper shuffling etc. don't go to air. This also applies to microphone technique. Make sure you are a short handspan from the microphone and have your fader and levels set before going to air.

Guidance for Producers and Presenters of Regional News

3BBR recognises that the training needs of our local News readers and Regional News program producers are different from Music program Presenters. Their induction, training sessions and materials are usually dealt with separately by the Board nominated Coordinator.

Regional News Program Principles:

We convert newsprint into radio, specifically providing access to local newspaper content for those who are unable to read. We seek out items that print-handicapped people would not usually hear.

Over 15% of the population has a print disability, but we also have a significant audience who find our program useful while engaged in another task - driving their tractor, a truck on the highway, or working on their farm or hobby.

We are mere impartial carriers for the information, not celebrities-in-the-making, neither commentators nor critics of the items we read.

In remote recording, we use either smart phones or computers connected to the internet, to record and send our finish program to our station's techs. We send everything by internet, never in solid form (e.g. discs, USB sticks), nor do we meet other station volunteers. Total separation via the internet.

Each program is just short of an hour's broadcast, so we record our selected stories in 3 blocks, totalling 52 minutes. The remaining time is filled by a member of the Production team, with station announcements, to start after the on-the-hour 5 minute syndicated national news bulletin at 11am.

Currently 3BBR produces 5 hours of this specialised programming every week of the year, and from our homes since early 2020.

As part of a roster of 8 volunteers, each broadcaster is allocated one local newspaper, and a day on which it has to be sent as a finished program, for massaging and transferring to the station's computer.

Rules and Requirements:

We are strictly bound by broadcasting licences - broadcasters have been stood down for serious breaches.

- We must acknowledge the source, its date, writer's name (when a byline is given) and page number.
- Read all the text, except to deal with obvious printing or grammatical errors that will not change the meaning. Do not selectively edit to drop facts and contentious paragraphs.
- Don't make fun of errors, or use a disparaging style – let the listener judge the content for themselves.

- We can paraphrase or explain – “I think what they meant to say was...” but only after reading the faulty sentence
 - Announce the source (once per block of recording), each article title, the author (if there is one), and page number. Re-announce (called back-announcing) the title and page number when you’ve finished.
 - No editorialising – don’t judge, or comment, but segues are fine.
 - Don’t read advertorials, nor advertisements. Advertorials are not unbiased journalism, but a vehicle for sales promotion, disguised as a news item, often with effusive praise, covering only one business, usually with contact details.
 - We must read all apologies in that day’s paper regarding previously-published articles (a very rare event in Gippsland papers)
 - Items can be truncated if running short of time, BUT only at the end of a broadcast
 - During a state or federal election, if we read any article reporting on political meetings, policies, candidates, etc, other candidates are entitled to demand equal on-air time. See below for more detailed guidelines. Be mindful that the media blackout period prohibits political advertising during the three days prior to an election.

Some protocols:

- Follow the scripts.
- Read your items as if to one person you know sitting in front of you. Be interesting and well-paced but not rushed, with an natural and personable style.
- Don’t read text describing pictures unless it adds critical information for listeners’ understanding of the story

Useful guidance can also be found through Vision Australia
<https://radio.visionaustralia.org/about-us/rph-protocols>

Local program content:

- Gippsland-specific regional news, editorials, community information, sports and magazine items
- Deaths, funeral and birth notices
- Letters to editors
- Items and events for visually-handicapped listeners
- and sometimes interview & local history programs

We put each program to air a day after each newspaper is published, so its fresh news.

Select suitable articles to read - we usually read page 1, then work through the paper reading most major interest items, especially those that are both local and would normally be heard on state radio, any editorials, features and community information, summarise deaths, and upcoming funerals - never ones on the day of broadcast or earlier. We'll teach you how to select suitable items.

Considerations during Elections:

As soon as federal, state or local elections are formally called, presenters need to ensure the variety of topics they read include some political news, quotes from candidates, commentary and analysis, including any relevant information re voting procedures and guidance from the electoral commission.

This is a distinct departure from procedures under Vision Australia Radio policy which prohibits reading any political material.

We need to consider including news, criticism by media, opponents or the public, inc. information from and about candidates, their speeches, their policies, analysis. Favour rational commentary and analysis.

Our print-handicapped audience ought to hear as much information re local candidates as we can fit into a mix of local news, so that they are locally informed when deciding how to vote. Editorials and comments (e.g. on the opinion pages of the Weekly times, etc) may add an extra dimension to news reportage on political issues, and so should also be considered when compiling your program.

Strive to maintain balance – regardless of your own views. We could be accused of bias if we read one item from or about one candidate, and not read an item about another from the same paper.

We do not read advertisements or advertorials, including advertisements for or by candidates or their parties, but Electoral Commission voting procedures and advice are an important exception.

Equipment:

You can record and send a program on a mobile phone, or for better quality, an omni-directional microphone and headset, via computer with access to the internet. This needs to be done in a quiet place, preferably with some furnishings to reduce room echo. If your phone or microphone is too far away, the room acoustics will overwhelm your voice and reduce clarity.

If not using a mobile phone for recording, download free recording software Audacity to your computer. You will need to learn the basics of Audacity.

Skills:

Estimating the reading time of articles.

Following the pre-set sequence of our programs.

Recording using Audacity.

Adhering to time limits for each of the segments.

Sequence:

One program takes about 2 hours to plan and record, until you gain skills and learn short-cuts. Our best broadcasters, with years of practice, can do it in 1 hr 15 mins.

It doesn't need to be in a straight run of 2 hrs, it can be created in parts, using the pause feature in the software, and taking rest breaks.

We read our selected articles in 3 blocks - 17, 18 and finally 17 minutes long

Select suitable items, and enter them, in order, in our standard run sheet.

Check standard script(s) for relevance for the date.

Pre-read each item to find and tag trip points – e.g. difficult pronunciations, poor journalism.

Have a glass of liquid at hand, record each segment. Track elapsed time while recording each segment, then note the total time of each segment.

Save, then export as an MP3 file at 256 or 320kbps

Send the 3 segments to the nominated member of the Production team via <https://wettransfer.com>. Use our standard numbering to flag what program it is.

Recruitment and Training:

The recruitment and training of news readers is somewhat different to regular training for studio presenters.

1. Audition
2. Training; in-studio procedures and broadcasting behaviour standards, inc. how it is controlled by our licence conditions, and how to prepare & time a program
3. Supervised live or pre-recorded practice
4. Registration on our roster

Volunteer and Presenter Replacements

RATIONALE:

West Gippsland Community Radio endorses the right of volunteers to take time off from their duties for personal business, health or family reasons. Sooner or later, every presenter will need to find someone else to fill in for them. Presenters are responsible for this process, which must be clarified so that confusion does not arise.

IN THE CASE OF ILL HEALTH:

- It is preferred that volunteers do not attend if they are unwell.
- If the illness is known in advance, involving surgery and a period of convalescence, it is expected that the volunteer will make arrangements for cover, unless it is emergency surgery.
- If the illness involves emergency surgery, is very serious, or has an onset within twenty four hours of the program, volunteers are not expected to make their own arrangements.
- In this case, the person to contact for assistance is the person appointed by the Board to manage Programming.

IN THE CASE OF HOLIDAY OR OTHER LEAVE INVOLVING ONE ABSENCE:

The person appointed by the Board to manage Programming must be notified as soon as possible. Arrangements for replacement must be made by the volunteer, and notified to the person appointed by the Board, preferably in writing.

IN THE CASE OF HOLIDAY OR OTHER LEAVE INVOLVING MORE THAN ONE ABSENCE:

The person appointed by the Board to manage Programming must be notified as soon as possible. Arrangements for replacement must be made by the volunteer, and notified to the person appointed by the Board, using the Leave Notification Forms available in the studio office.

IN AN EMERGENCY WHERE FORWARD NOTICE CANNOT BE GIVEN:

In cases such as vehicle breakdown, missed train, or other last minute hold-up, the volunteer must ring the studio, the Programming Co-ordinator or member of the Production team so that arrangements can be made to cover the shift or part of the shift for which the volunteer will be absent.

We will make every reasonable effort to resolve genuine complaints.

Types of Complaints:

- a) Complaints may be made by members, listeners who are not necessarily members, volunteers, and people in the wider community.
- b) Complaints may be about:
 - i. Programming and program content
 - ii. behaviour of presenters and other members

- b) Complainants must be advised of their rights, including to make further complaint to ACMA, and provided with a copy of the Codes of Practice.
- c) The subject of a complaint is entitled to know who lodged the complaint, even if the complaint has been found to be not valid. The subject of the complaint may then choose to initiate dispute procedures.

Procedures:

- a) Complaints must be referred to the Secretary or the President.

1. The investigator is to:
 - determine the circumstances of the complaint
 - check with relevant policies for compliance
 - make a recommendation of action to the board that includes the application of any policy

Discipline

RATIONALE:

Station policies and procedures are in place to ensure good governance, maintain standards of performance and protect against actions which are not in the best interests of the station.

Members sign an undertaking to observe Station policies and procedures when they apply for membership.

The Disciplinary Action Policy procedure is intended to provide a fair, and defensible mechanism for managing cases where there have been allegations of conduct which infringes upon the rights of members/volunteers, alienates listeners or bring the station into disrepute.

The procedure outlined below sets out the steps to be taken leading up to a decision by the Board to invoke the provisions of Division 2 of the Rules of Association for West Gippsland Community Radio, Inc (The Constitution).

PROCEDURE

If a presenter or member is alleged to have offended against the Constitution, Standing Orders, the Community Broadcasting Code or Programming Guidelines, the Board shall appoint a member to undertake the following procedure to prevent a recurrence of any alleged offence or to determine that there are sufficient grounds for taking disciplinary action.

The Board appointed member shall:

1. Provide informal verbal notice that the presenter or member is alleged to have offended
2. Seek to clarify the circumstances with the presenter or member and determine the appropriate action to be taken
3. Undertake an investigation of the circumstances, if no further action was taken under point 2, and the alleged offence is repeated. In the case of an alleged broadcasting offence the investigation should include listening to the logging record of the program in question.
4. Recommend to the Board one or more of the following:
 - a) A temporary stand-down from the program roster of a presenter, if the findings of the investigation indicate that there has been a clear and serious offence against the Constitution, Standing Orders, Community Broadcasting Code or Programming Guidelines.
 - b) A process for resolving any differences and managing the performance of the presenter/member who was the subject of the investigation
 - c) That undertakings from the presenter/member be accepted
 - d) That there are sufficient grounds for taking disciplinary action in accordance with section 19 and 20 of the Constitution.

Logo and Brand usage

High resolution logos are available at <https://3bbrfm.org.au/logos/>

It is common practice that well-meaning 3BBR Members will grab the logo from anywhere they can find one on the internet, instead of asking for a high-resolution copy. For that reason, this page is public, but not easily discoverable.

LIMITATION:

3BBR logos may only be reproduced or modified by individuals or other organisations with the express consent of the 3BBR Board.

USAGE:

- Modifying or re-colouring the logo in any way is not permitted
- Monochrome versions should be used for all black and white printing and email footers
- Maintain “white space” around the logo in all usage
- Cropped versions are provided to allow easier edge alignment in layout, but at least 10% margin is still required on all sides
- Avoid adding borders around the logo artwork alone
- Font = Stone Sans Sem ITC TT Semi

Infectious Diseases Policy

Policy:

With the COVID 19 pandemic continuing, and other respiratory disease (colds and flu) increasing, and with the removal of Government mandates as to vaccines and masks, 3BBR requires members who are unwell for any reason, but particularly if presenting with sneezing, a cough, or other respiratory symptoms to not attend the station.

If such attendance is vital, for example resolving a technical issue, a mask should be worn. Presenting a program is NOT a reason of sufficient urgency.

Sanitation processes should continue to be followed, especially the washing or sanitation of hands and touching surfaces.

Due to the nature of the operation it is difficult to maintain a high level of air circulation, therefore it is required that numbers of people be kept to a minimum, with a maximum of 2 in Studio 1 and a maximum of 3 in Studio 2 (Production).

With these caveats, a return to live broadcasting is to be encouraged.

Child Protection

RATIONALE:

The purpose of this Policy is:

1. To prevent child abuse within West Gippsland Community Radio Inc.
2. To work towards an organisational culture of child safety.
3. To ensure that all parties are aware of their responsibilities for identifying possible occasions for child abuse, and for establishing controls and procedures for such abuse and/or detecting such abuse when it occurs.
4. To provide guidance to members, volunteers and contractors as to action that should be taken where they suspect any abuse within the organisation.
5. To provide a clear statement to members, volunteers and contractors forbidding any such abuse.
6. To provide assurance that any and all suspected abuse will be reported and fully investigated.

DEFINITIONS:

A 'child' is a person who has not reached the age of eighteen years.

'Child abuse' means all forms of physical abuse, emotional ill-treatment, sexual abuse and exploitation, neglect or negligent treatment, commercial (eg for financial gain) or other exploitation of a child and includes any actions that result in actual or potential harm to a child.

'Child sexual assault' is any act which exposes a child to, or involves a child in, sexual processes beyond his or her understanding or contrary to accepted community standards, and includes actions deliberately undertaken with the aim of befriending and establishing an emotional connection with the child to lower the child's inhibitions in preparation for sexual activity with the child.

'Reasonable grounds for belief' is a belief based on an objective assessment of the facts as observed or reported. It is not the same as having proof, but a reasonable belief may be formed as a result of a statement by a child that they have been physically or sexually abused; that they know somebody who has had such an experience (they may be talking about their own experience); someone who knows the child states that the child has been physically or sexually abused; there are any behavioural signs of sexual or physical abuse.

REPORTING AND INVESTIGATION:

A person who has formed a reasonable belief as defined above must report that belief to a Member of the Board, who will ensure that the report is passed on to the President. The President or a person appointed by the President will investigate the circumstances of that person's knowledge, and reason for forming the belief. The parents will be informed of the investigation by the President, or by a person appointed by the President.

A child who discloses sexual or physical abuse must be treated with respect, but the person to whom such behaviour is reported is entitled to ask for details of the alleged assault, including times, places, identities, and witnesses.

The child may be further questioned by the President, or the delegated person.

The President or delegated person is obliged to inform the person who has been named as having abused the child; or any witnesses that have been named by the child or the informant.

All parties are entitled to up-to-date feedback on the progress of the investigation.

If the President forms a reasonable belief that such an abuse has occurred, or is likely to have occurred, the police must be notified.

If the police are notified, it is the duty of all members, volunteers and contractors to co-operate fully with the investigation.

Every effort will be made to keep any investigation confidential.

If an external investigation finds reason for legal action, the Board reserves the right to submit the matter to a Discipline Sub-Committee for internal action under Clauses 19-24 of the 3BBR Rules of Association.

The President will ensure that a full record is kept of reports, investigations, and outcomes.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF MEMBERS, VOLUNTEERS AND CONTRACTORS:

All people involved in the induction, training and supervision of children on behalf of West Gippsland Community Radio, and all adults present while a child is on the premises, will:

1. Establish and maintain a child-safe environment in the course of their work.
2. Treat children with respect, and value their ideas and opinions. Children will also treat other members with respect.
3. Act as positive role models in their conduct with children.
4. Respect the privacy of children and only disclose information to people who have a need to know.
5. A person working directly with the child must have Working with Children accreditation, or be supervised by another member with this accreditation.

It is unacceptable to:

1. Shame, humiliate, oppress, belittle or degrade children.

2. Unlawfully discriminate against any child.
 3. Engage in any activity with a child that is likely to result in physical or emotional harm.
 4. Initiate unnecessary physical contact with a child.
 5. Develop a 'special' relationship with a specific child to satisfy their own needs.
 6. Show favouritism through the provision of gifts or inappropriate attention.
 7. Arrange contact, including online contact, with a child outside of the organisation's programs and activities.
 8. Photograph or video a child, or put a broadcast to air of a child, without the consent of the child and his/her parents or guardians.
 9. Work with a child or children while under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs.
 10. Engage in open discussion of a mature or adult nature in the presence of a child or children.
 11. Use inappropriate language in the presence of a child or children.
 12. Do anything which is in contravention of this policy.

Bullying and Sexual Harassment

INTRODUCTION:

West Gippsland Community Radio Inc. (3BBR FM) aims to provide a safe and healthy work environment, in which all volunteers and workers (referred to as “workplace participants”) are treated fairly, with dignity and respect. Bullying and sexual harassment (further referred to as “such behaviours”) are risks to health and safety in the workplace, and will not be tolerated by 3BBR FM.

PURPOSE:

This Policy outlines 3BBR FM’s commitment to a safe workplace. It also details the legal responsibilities of 3BBR FM and workplace participants in relation to preventing such behaviours in the workplace.

All members have a right to seek further assistance from the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission in resolving such behaviours.

The principles set out in this policy are intended to apply to any 3BBR FM related context, including work sessions, social functions, meetings, conferences and excursions.

Behaviour that directly inflicts physical pain or harm amounts to assault and will not be dealt with under this policy (refer to Procedure Clause 5 below).

PROCEDURES:

1. If you feel you are suffering such behaviours, you should make the perceived offender/s aware that their behaviour is offensive, and unacceptable, and that it needs to stop immediately.
2. Where the behaviour continues, or you feel unable to speak directly to the perceived offender, report the matter to the Secretary or the President immediately.

4. You may opt to submit a written complaint and have the matter dealt with in accordance with 3BBR FM's Complaints Policy.
5. Some forms of severe bullying or harassment, for example, physical attack or obscene phone calls, may constitute criminal conduct and should be handled by the criminal justice system.

Complainants will be advised of the option of police intervention. It is the obligation of the complainant to report such matters to Victoria Police.

The station's buildings contain 3BBR's equipment of significant importance to running the station, which may be targeted by criminals intent on stealing items of value.

FUNCTION:

A security system has been installed in the Drouin studio complex. The cameras are not to spy on members, but to provide evidence of damage, a break-in or to investigate a major unexpected broadcast failure or breach of trust.

The cameras focus on who is entering the premises, our "Master Control" rack in the library and both studio doors.

POLICY APPLICATION:

1. The board will authorise specific members to have access to the camera controller, via user ID and password.
2. Access to images, current and stored, is only to provide evidence of damage, a break-in or to investigate a major unexpected broadcast failure or breach of trust.
3. When authorised users periodically check that all cameras are working and recording, only live camera feeds will be viewed.
4. Any images stored on the security system are to be offered to police on request.
5. It is specifically forbidden to use the images from these cameras to observe or discover any member's or visitor's behaviours, inc. compliance with other policies.
6. If any image access or use occurs contrary to this policy, the station's disciplinary policy is to be initiated.

Program Scheduling:

Programming on 3BBR is scheduled in 12 monthly cycles, commencing on 1 July. Each show will need to reapply to be included in the next year's programming. There is no automatic rollover process and no guarantees of inclusion in the programming grid.

Fees:

Before new presenters can go to air, they must be fully paid up members and complete a training schedule. A training fee for this service exists which is currently $55 as at May 2021. This must be paid before any training can commence. Ongoing training for on-air presenters is free of charge.

Program Conditions:

Financial Membership	All presenters, regular co-presenters, and regular guests must be financial members. No program can proceed without current membership
Show Sponsorship	We encourage you to attract a Show Sponsorship. This will reflect most favourably on your annual show application.
Volunteer Work	Each presenter must volunteer an extra 2 to 4 hours per year. This is outside of their show and show preparations. Examples such as assisting with special events / outside broadcasts / fund raising / mowing / cleaning etc.
Presenter Meetings	You are required to attend at least 50% of presenter meetings held in each calendar year. Failure to do so will result in suspension of your program(s)
Program Duration	Standard daytime programs are a maximum of two hours. The only time a program may extend beyond two hours is after 6pm, at weekends, and special approved by the Board. Programs are required to run weekly.
Program Renewal	The right to broadcast a program is automatically renewed unless advised by the Station that scheduling will not be renewed for the program. Notification will be by phone and email with a period of 13 weeks notice. Where notice has been provided that a program will discontinue presenters may opt to discontinue their programming immediately
Community Equity	Any presenter with more than one program may have to relinquish the additional programs depending on new applications received. Where possible the presenter will retain their preferred timeslot.
Code of Conduct	Each presenter is required to follow the 3BBR Code of Conduct
Procedures	Each presenter is required to follow the 3BBR Procedures
Smoking / Drugs / Alcohol	All presenters (and their guests) are advised that smoking / drugs / alcohol consumption is strictly prohibited anywhere on the entire 3BBR Drouin premises. INFORMATION

A Program Working Group has now been established. It aims to meet once a month. The current chair of the 3BBR Program Working Group is Garry Havrillay (Vice-President of West Gippsland Community Radio Inc.) who takes responsibility for liaising with the Board before ongoing schedule changes are ratified. vicepresident@3bbrfm.org.au

The 3BBR Secretary is José Meyer. secretary@3bbrfm.org.au

Please note that production@3bbrfm.org.au is not a private email account. Multiple people will receive any email sent to this account. This is for day-to-day issues with OTS loading, pre-recorded programs and CSAs. We are very grateful that Andrew Clinkaberry is still doing a huge amount of work maintaining and loading what goes to air on 3BBR, and is often first to respond and act.

Likewise programming@3bbrfm.org.au sends to multiple people. This is for issues with program scheduling, presenter absences etc.

Broadcast-ready pre-recorded programs, promos and CSAs should be sent directly to uploads@3bbrfm.org.au so they can be downloaded directly to a PC at the station.
